

Foreign Language Pedagogy: Theories and Practice

Fall 2016 – GERM 700

GERM700 introduces new Graduate Teaching Assistants in the Carolina-Duke Graduate Program in German Studies, as well as affiliated programs, to current methodologies and pedagogies relevant to teaching as a foreign language in North America. We will consider theoretical developments, as well as current issues in language pedagogy as addressed in academic journals and studies such as Lee and VanPatten's Making Communicative Language Teaching Happen and Omaggio-Hadley's Teaching Language In Context. We will also explore practical applications of the studied approaches and theorems, debate and engage with language, literature and culture in the FL classroom. Over the course of the semester, you will work on your online teaching portfolios containing sample lesson plans, syllabi, and initial drafts of your teaching philosophy.

UNC COLLEGE OF
ARTS & SCIENCES

Wednesday, 4:40-7:10 PM with Dr. Tin Wegel
414 Dey Hall (UNC Campus)

wegel@email.unc.edu