Examination of the clash between 20th-century writers and the state, in countries where a single political government or party used an exclusive ideology as justification for interference in cultural and literary affairs.

Readings and lectures in English
Approach: Historical Analysis;
Connection: Global Issues