

In this course, we will explore Dostoevsky's literary quest to understand why people . . .

. . . lose their minds, . . . commit murder & other unspeakable crimes, . . . become alcoholics, . . . gamble, . . . join monasteries, . . . kill themselves, . . . believe they are God, . . . & engage in other striking behaviors.

In addition to a number of Dostoevsky's shorter works, including the short novel Notes from Underground, we will study three of the great novel-tragedies—Crime and Punishment, Demons, and The Brothers Karamazov.

Readings in English.

Some readings in Russian for qualified students.

Approach: Literary Arts;

Connection: Beyond the North Atlantic

Dostoevsky

Spring 2017

Prof. Radislav Lapushin

TTH 12:30-1:45 PM

RUSS 464

UNC
COLLEGE OF
ARTS & SCIENCES

Germanic and Slavic Languages and Literatures