

Entscheidungen treffen

German 301: Conversation and Composition

German 301 is an advanced language and literature course in which you will discuss a variety of contemporary texts and films. Throughout the course, we will consider how and why various characters make decisions and connect those decisions to larger themes in contemporary German-speaking societies and cultures. This course also provides advanced language learners with opportunities to strengthen their written and verbal communication skills.

Fall 2018

GERM 301.001
Dr. Claire E. Scott

GERM 301.002
Dr. Kyung Lee Gagum

Prerequisite: GERM 204 or permission of instructor
Connections: Communication Intensive, North Atlantic World

Germanic and Slavic Languages and Literatures